SOUTHWEST IS MAKING PROGRESS IN THE CULTIVATION OF NEW AREAS

C. J. Blanchard Tells of Continuous and Rapid Growth of Towns and Development of Farming Lands in the Rio Grande Valley, Where 30,000 Acres of Bosque Lands Have Been Cleared in 2 Years.

The growth of the cities and towns, while continuous and rapid, is not going too far ahead of the development of the farming country. The influx of new farmers, largely from the middle west, has initiated an era of better farming in many localities where the easy going Mexican tenant has long held sway. In the Rio Grande valley in New Mexico and Texas, probably 30,000 acres of bosque land have been cleared, leveled, and put in crops within the past two years. These new farms, occupied by settlers from the Mississippi valley, are looking exceptionally fine. The ploner work has been well done, the homes are attractive and artistic, and each district has made special effort to establish handsome and up to date centralized graded schools. The agricultural interests are becoming keyed up to a higher plane, better farming methods are being practiced and in anticipation of the storage of Rio Grande floods, there is much activity in presuring new The growth of the cities and towns, have been cleared, leveled and planted. Federal Court Takes Up Criminal Docket; Grand Jury Will Report Tuesday; Many In ictments Expected.

United States federal court started on the second week of its October term Monday morning, with the criminal docket called for trial. The federal grand jury will remain in session until Tuesday, when the final report will be made to judge Maxey and the grand jury will be dismissed. A large number of indictments are expected to be returned by the grand jury when it makes its final appearance in court Tuesday.

Cigaret Smuggler Fined $50.

The case of the United States against Oliver Carr, an automobile driver, charging him with smuggling Mexican cigarets across in his car from Juarez, was called Monday morning and he was fined $50 which he paid. The automobile, which was seized by the cistoms officials at the time, and against which a separate suit was brought, was released.

Two Prisoners Plead Guilty.

The case of Gomeseindo Carreon and Refugio Vasquez, charged with violating the neutrality laws by conspiring smuggle ammunition, was called at 10 oclock Monday and the trial started. The two men are alleged to have covered a quantity of ammunition under boxes of apples which they hauled down the valley toward Fabens with the alleged intent of crossing it to Mexico. First Ammunition Case.

This is the first ammunition case yet called this term and the first one to be tried here since the supreme court ruled that it was only necessary to show in-tent to smuggle to Mexico and not necessary to have completed the overt act, a decision reversing judge Maxey's former decisions in these cases.

Dancing Jo

A New, Refined Tango, Invented and Described for Bailroom Use by Joseph Santley

By MAUDE MILLER.

H, CAN you dance the two-step, and can you dance the waltz?" So went the old song But the question before us today is: "CAN YOU TANGO? DO YOU KNOW ANY NEW TROTTING STEPS?"

If you cannot dance the new dances you may as well learn, for they have come to stay—and we are all anxious to be up to date. Now the minute we see a clever new step we go to some secluded corner and try it out. But mere looking is not a sure school for gaining knowledge of the turns and glides of the Joseph Santley has invented a delightful new Tango, and he is almost as clever at describing his steps as he is graceful in twirling them out on the stage of Lew Field's 44th street music hall. I think you will find that the little dance invented by the young star of "When Dreams Come True" is exactly the thing you want to add to your repertoire of modern dancing, "To the amateur danter I would say: In the first place and in the second place and in all the places that you can count, get good, swinging music. Music comes first in all the modern dancing. The best way to dance is to have good, catchy music and a good partner who catches your idea, and then work out your dance by getting into the spirit of it,

"The real tango—the Tango Argentine—is not a ballroom dance. Any way, you do not often see it danced without modification in this country. But it makes a splendid basis, and part of its steps are used and worked into the movements

"Of course, I use the characteristic Tango position, The girl is at the right. The steps are always begun with the outside foot-'her' right and 'his' left. The position is almost like that for the waltz, only you

"Now here is an attractive step made on a count of four: (1) Step forward on to the left foot; (2) advance on to the right foot; (3) slight hop on right foot, at the same time bringing the left foot up on a line with the right knee and rather close to that knee; (4) end the figure with a pointed kick with the left foot. This means a kick with down-pointed toe. Repeat this figure three times. forming a semi-circle during your progress. This is arranged according to my own steps; the girl starts on her right foot, of course. "Now go on taking the next steps on a count of six: (1) Step forward on the

This little curtsey step ends the dance very gracefully. In this the inner feet are used-the man's left and the girls right. Swing forward on the inner feet, and drop the weight to the bent outer knee. The arms separate and describe a little semi-circle at waist height.

you were curtesying.) In this both knees are bent, the right foot on the floor bearing the weight of the body. The toes of the left foot rest on the floor with the knee close to, but not touching, the floor. (6) Rise erect on the right foot, swing the left foot forward in a semi-circle to a standing position, bringing the heels together. Repeat the parts of these figures three times. Again the girl takes the identical steps, but starts on the right foot,
